CANDLER'S YOUNG WIFE DISMISSED IN POLICE CASE

Mrs. Candler and Keeling Out Of Court on Boose Charge

STODDARD IS HELD

Police Chief Tells of Tip To Follow Wife of Asa To Apartment

(By the Associated Press)
ATLANTA, March 3.—The case against Mrs. Asa G. Candler, sr., and W. G. Keeling was dismissed and G. W. Stoddard was bound over for trial under bond of $300 today when they were given a hearing in police court on charges of having been in a place where intoxicating liquors were being drunk.

Hundreds of spectators were in the court room when the cases were called. Police had to make the crowd stand back to allow Jesse M. Wood, assistant city attorney, to get to the bench.

The defendants entered a plea of not guilty to violating Sec. 1768 of the city code. Mrs. Candler remained in the back ground, her attorney entering the plea.

Chief of Police Beavers, the first witness, said that he led the raid upon complaint made to him by "Asa G. Candler, sr."

"I got a call to go to a certain place from a party who was shadowing Mrs. Candler and Stoddard. This party told me to drive to Ponce de Leon and Juniper street," said the chief. "I had assigned no one to the case and at the request of the family kept it secret."

"I went on the raid on that ground," Chief Beavers added. "The man shadowing Mrs. Candler said she would be found in apartment No. 8 at 48 Juniper street. It was located on the second floor."

ACTION STARTED IN ELECTION ROW

North Dakota Supreme Court To Pass on Injunction Of Johnson

(By the Associated Press)
BISMARCK, N. D., March 3.—Two actions were on the docket of the state supreme court today to drop the name of Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin from the state primary ballot for the presidency.

Attorneys for Senator Hiram Johnson of California, presidential candidate, have made application for an original injunction to prevent La Follette's name from going to the voters. This application was filed with the court Saturday after Secretary of State Thomas Hall had been prevented from carrying out Senator La Follette's telegraphic instructions to withdraw his name by and order from Judge F. B. Lembke to put the Wisconsin ballot's name on the ballot.

The other action before the court developed Sunday when Attorney General George Shafer announced he would ask the high court to call up for review the order of Judge Lembke.

The reason given in the Johnson application was that La Follette's name on the ballot would favor the candidacy of President Coolidge by splitting the progressive vote.

BRIDGE OVER CANADIAN DUE TO FINISHING SOON

The bridge across the Canadian river north of Ada ought to be ready for use by the first of July, according to the foreman of the job. At this time the tower on the north side of the river has been completed and the excavation work done on this side. The tower on the south side should be completed within another week or ten days and then work will begin on the middle tower. Three or four weeks will be required to finish the towers.

Already the cables have been anchored in giant beds of concrete on each side. There will be two of them, each capable of carrying a weight of three million pounds. The steel in the bridge will weigh less than two hundred thousand pounds. Ninety days will be required from the completion of the towers to place the steel and make the bridge ready for crossing.

Some work has been done on the highway from Ada to the river crossing, and it will be in excellent shape before the bridge has been completed.

Blues Reach High Mark in Attendance At Men's Bible Class

The crusade for more members brought 301 to the McSwain theatre Sunday morning and again gave the advantage to the Reds in the contests for supremacy in the Men's Bible class of the First Baptist church.

Last Sunday's attendance marked a new goal in Sunday school attendance for Ada, the 301 students of the Bible class being the greatest assembly for one class in the history of Ada.

The contest for more members is being sponsored by two teams of workers, the Reds and Blues. The Reds are piloted by Frank Arnett and the Blues by Dick Garrett.

NO FRAUD LINKED IN INDIAN FEES

County Judge Crawford Dispeals Doubt of Graft In Attorney Fees

While the Indian Rights association of America continues in its wide sweeping investigation of conditions where exorbitant attorney fees are alleged to have been drained from the estates of wealthy Indians, Pontotoc county need have no fear of disturbance from investigation in the administration of the affairs of Indian estates according to County Judge Tal Crawford.

Judge Crawford, who adjudicates probate affairs in the cases of incompetents, minors and in heretofore matters, states that Indian affairs have warranted the attention of special attorneys in only a few cases and in such instances fees for attorneys have shown no irregularity.

New estates of Indians in Pontotoc county reach large financial proportions or to such an extent an administrator of their affairs are necessary. No Indian estate in the county requires the constant employment of an attorney.

Practically all Indian affairs that have come to the attention of the county judge here have been administered without the aid of attorneys but through the county judge through his office as probate judge.

While the oil boom has increased to a large extent the value of property owned by Indians and leases on Indian lands have come into demand public sales of Indian oil and gas lease rights have disposed of their part in the contribution to the oil prosperity.

In view of a prosperous boom in Pontotoc county, County Judge Crawford maintained that Indian affairs would be conducted, so far as they may come within his power, in a manner that will not meet censure.

INQUIRY STARTED AFTER NIXON PLANT EXPLOSION

NIXON, N. J., March 3.—An inquiry into the cause of Saturday's explosion and fire here which killed 18 persons and destroyed 40 buildings was begun today. Fifteen persons are still in the hospital and two are missing.

Among those requested to appear are Lewis Nixon, president of the Nixon Nitration works, and R. Norris Shreve, president of the Ammonite company.

Maj. A. S. Casad, in command of the Raritan arsenal, said yesterday that he believed the explosion was due to condition in the Ammonite plant rather than any possible fault in the separation of the TNT at the arsenal from the ammonium nitrate which was finished and sent in tanks to the fertilizer factory of the Ammonite company.

Until the ruins cool, which may take a number of days, no thorough search for other victims will be made.

Congressman M'Keown Promises Attention To Federal Auto Tax

Motorists, who have been burdened with federal automobile tax, may be assured that Tom D. M'Keown, congressman from this district is lending his efforts to the elimination of this handicap.

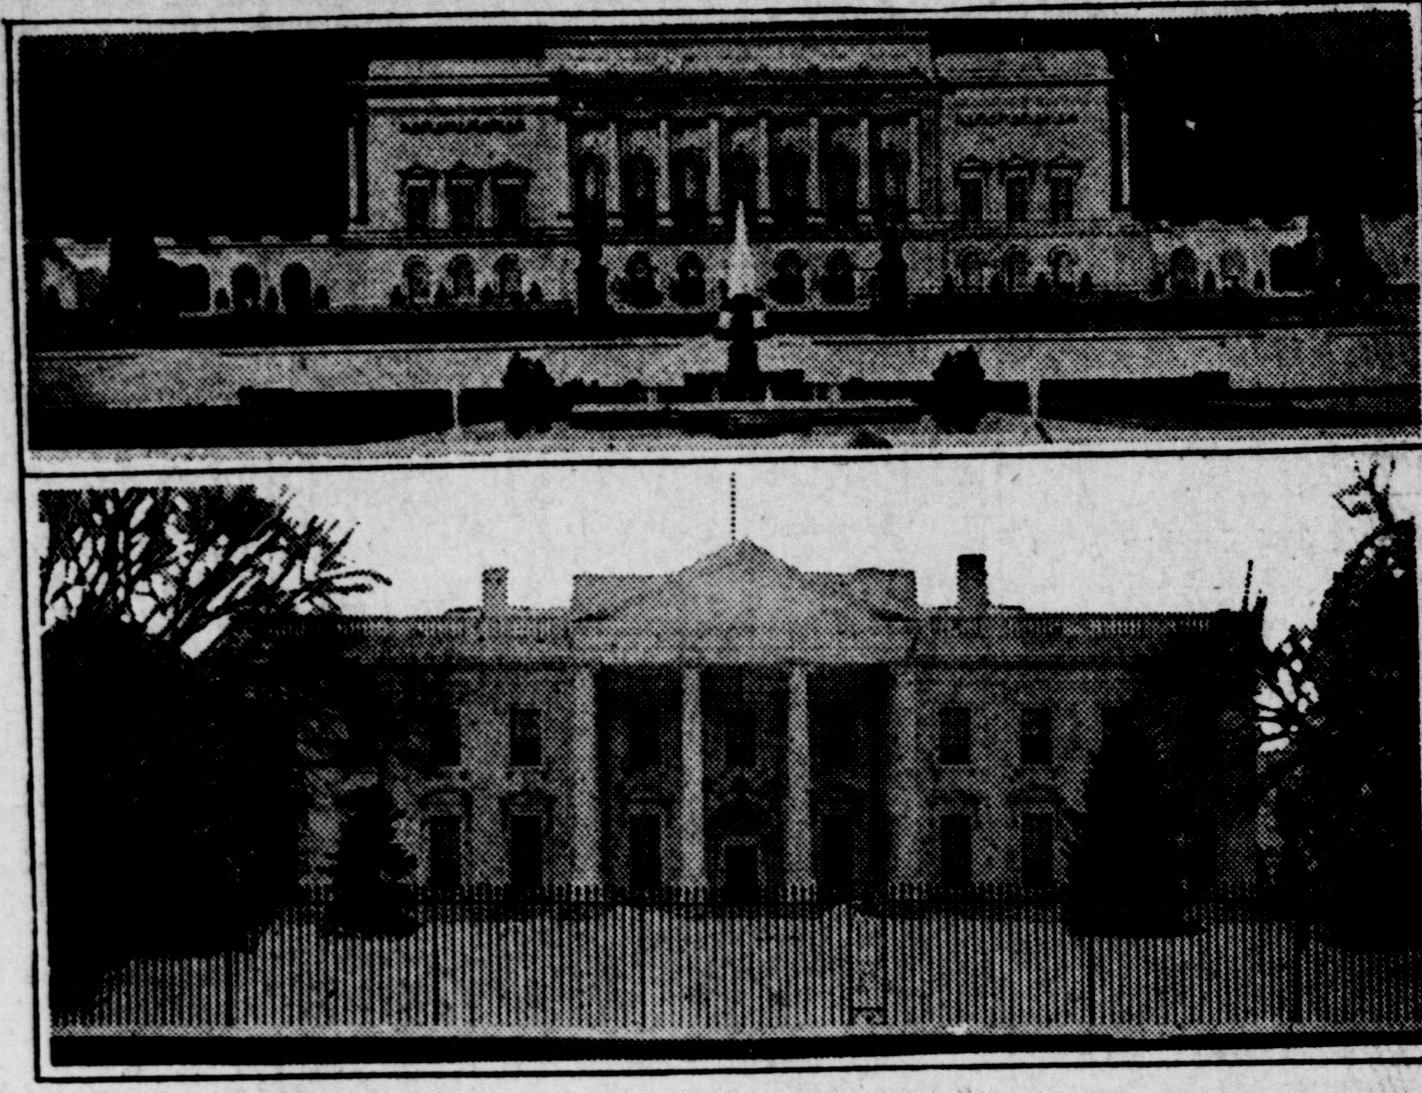

A recent letter to N. B. Stall, president of the Ada Motor Club from Congressman M'Keown, promises support of any move that will eliminate any unnecessary war tax.

Petition for congressional action against federal auto tax was forwarded to M'Keown after several members of the Ada Motor club had taken the matter up with Stall.

M'Keown promised earnest consideration of the removal of the tax and voiced his favor of appeal of unnecessary war taxes.

LEGISLATURE LOCKS ON APPROPRIATION

House Refuses to Concur on Institutional Supply Bill

(By the Associated Press)
OKLAHOMA CITY, March 3.—The Oklahoma house of representatives refused today to concur in a senate amendment to the institution supply bill increasing the total of the measure by more than $100,000 and asked for a conference with the upper house. The bill as passed by the house provided for a reduction of $400,000 in the appropriations made for state institutions by the regular session of the legislature a year ago. The senate approved a $100,000 building for the Northwestern State Teacher college at Alva which the house had eliminated from the college projects and made other increases in the house figures.

The house today passed a bill appropriating $650,000 for the aid of weak school districts. The appropriation had been passed previously by the senate. M. A. Nash, state superintendent of public instruction, said it will prevent the immediate closing of 200 schools in the rural districts.

The money will not be available until May 15, but it is believed that with the appropriation approved local school boards will be able to obtain credits if necessary to complete the school terms.

AMERICANS PROTECTED IN HONDURAN REVOLT

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Strict neutrality between rival revolutionary movements in Honduras has been enjoined upon American naval commanders in Honduran waters. They have been directed to confine themselves to the protection of American lives and interests but not to permit their operations to assume the appearance of American intervention.

Forces of the defacto government were seriously defeated yesterday by a revolutionary column commanded by General Ferrera. The fight occurred at the town of Tamara, 15 miles west of Tegucigalpa, capital of Honduras.

Presumably an attack by Ferrera on the capital is imminent. The wife of the defacto president, Gutierrez, has left the city for the seaport of Amapala. General Ferrera is believed here to be supporting the candidacy of Bonilla, one of the three aspirants for the presidency.

The cruiser Denver, flag ship of Rear Admiral Dayton's special service squadron, is still at Ceiba and the cruiser Milwaukee is expected to arrive shortly at Amapala.

PLEASANT WEATHER OPENS SUNDAY MOTORING TRAFFIC

Sunday was a day of joy for the motorists. After church hours yesterday a continuous stream of cars lined the streets of Ada and the open spaces of the county to fully enjoy the inviting sunshine and warm weather of Spring.

Filling stations reported an enormous sale of gasoline and other necessities for trips yesterday, declaring that Sunday proved their most profitable day of the year.

Congress to Consider Proposals For New Executive Mansion now

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Some of these days congress, freed from worry over who will be the next person to be boiled in oil, is going to give its attention to proposals for a new White House.

It has long been felt that the president of the United States is inadequately housed. In comparison with the chief executives of other nations, he is.

Impetus was given to the movement for a new presidential residence by a recent proposal of the superintendent of buildings and grounds showing the White House to be unsafe.

But little has been done in the way of improvements to the present building since 1902 during the incumbency of McKinley, when it was given a general overhauling and restoration at a cost of about $400,000.

The present structure dates back to 1823. The site was selected by President George Washington and Pierre Charles L'Enfant, when they laid out the capital city in 1791. Plans submitted by Jas. Hogan of Dublin, were accepted after a competition, and the cornerstone was laid in October of 1792. The original cost was defrayed out of the sale of lands donated by Maryland and Virginia. This structure was occupied by President John Adams and his wife in November, 1800. Fourteen years later it was burned by British troops.

The restoration was superintended by the original architect, Hogan, and his plans were followed entirely. The south portico was finished in 1823, at the extravagant cost of $19,000. The magnificent East room was completed in 1826, and the north portico added in 1829. The cost of this north portico was about $25,000.

In its early days grate fires were depended on for heat. In 1848 the president became a party to unusual extravagance when gas was installed. Just five years later the gas gave way to an improved heating and ventilation system.

Nothing else was done to the structure until it was remodeled in the McKinley administration.

The principal apartments in the White house at present are officially designated as: the East Room, Red Room, Blue Room, Green Room, State Dining Room, Family Dining Room, and Usher's Lobby. There are a Family Floor, a main stairway and a private staircase and elevators.

Hogan modeled the structure after the palace of the Duke of Leinster. It was built of gray sandstone, which was painted white after the fire, hence the name "White House."

Until 1902 the offices of the President were in the White House proper, but in that year an executive office building was constructed. This is located in the grounds west of the mansion. The building contains the president's room, the cabinet room, a telegraph room and a room for newspapermen, and offices for the executive clerical force.

THREE FIRES IN FEBRUARY BRINGS SMALL LOSS

Three fires during the month of February brought only a small loss to property owners of Ada according to the monthly report of Fire Chief Haley.

Less than $300 assumed the total of destruction by fire last month and that was consumed in the burning of a barn, the property of W. J. Brown.

Chief Haley considers this a comparatively small loss for the month.

EVANGELIST BRINGS MESSAGE TO THROUG

Nazarene Church Filled With Crowds to Hear Rev. J. E. L. Moore

The revival services at the Nazarene church under the direction of the Moore Evangelistic party of Indianapolis is increasing in interest and attendance. The church was filled last night and many were turned away, being unable to get a seat. Prof. James E. Campbell rendered two numbers in song to the delight of the vast audience.

At the close of a marvelous message by Dr. J. E. L. Moore many responded to the invitation for prayer. The subject for tonight is "The Hog in the Mud Hole" Special singing by Prof. Campbell.

Dr. Moore spoke last night on "The Magnitude of the Souls Value." He said in part: God has shown the value of a soul by putting it in the climax of creation—Man. Man staked his life by disobedience. Oh what a catastrophe! What a fall! It was a fall of life into the arms of death. It was a fall from the realms of light into the dungeons of midnight. It was a fall from the plains of innocence into the pool of guilty fear. It was the fall of the star of hope into the regions of despair.

When man was lost Jesus prepared a plan of salvation. He can take a big bay-windowed, beer-guzzling, bull-necked, hog-jawed, lantern-jawed, vile-mouthed, foul-tongued, thick-lipped, red-nosed, bloated, cheeked, mule-eared, grim-visaged, bleared, beetle-browed, vermin-headed, matted-haired, butter-milk-brained specimen of the genus homo and regenerate, renovate, rejuvenate, rehabilitate, reanimate and revive him and make a world's wonder out of him. The price paid shows the soul's value.

MORRIS OPENS REVIVAL IN SUNDAY SERVICES

Nine additions to the church and five conversions were the tangible results of the first day of the revival meetings at the First Baptist church. Rev. F. B. Thorne did not arrive for the Sunday services but will be here for the evening services.

Sunday morning Rev. Morris preached on the text: "Who is willing this day to consecrate himself to the Lord." He appealed to the membership to re-dedicate their lives to the service of the Master and likewise for those who had not been saved to line up for Christ. At the conclusion of the services five professed faith and seven were admitted to the church.

In the evening another effective service was held, and two more were added to the church rolls were taken in.

At both the morning and evening services the house was filled to overflowing and some were turned away. If the attendance keeps up, it may be necessary to find a larger auditorium for the meetings.

Memphis Man Named Father of Girl in Annulment Action

NEW YORK, March 3.—Eli Rayner of Memphis, Tenn., was named as the father of Elaine Lee Harris in a death-bed confession by the girl's mother, according to testimony given today by Mrs. Rosha Corder, half-sister of Mrs. Harris, in the annulment proceedings brought by Beverly D. Harris, prominent banker.

Rayner had been accused by Harris of having lived with Mrs. Harris before her marriage to the banker. Rayner previously had testified that the girl was his ward and that he knew her to be a member of the Mississippi Lee family, owners of a river steam boat line.

TIGERS BREAK ON CONFERENCE YEAR

East Central Crew Lose Seven And Win Seven Games For Season

Closing the season with an equal number of victories and defeats, East Central stands out as one of the sensational teams of the Oklahoma Intercollegiate conference.

Proving a serious snag in the rampages of the Southeastern and Southwestern teams, conference bright lights, East Central shared much of the glory of the basketball season just closing.

Despite serious handicaps encountered early in the season, the college basket slingers braved the remaining list of games with a sturdiness that worried stronger teams of the conference and carried them to a possible tie for third place in the conference rating.

East Central's split in the four-game series on their final road trip prevented a possible break in the conference rating and doomed them to a third or fourth place in official rating for the season.

In the final road trip last week, East Central won from the Edmond eagles and Phillips Harvesters but lost to Southwestern and Northwestern.

One remaining game in conference schedule will have an important part to play in the final berth of the East Central team. A postponed game between Northwestern and Southwestern will either throw the Southeastern and Southwestern teams in a deadlock for first honors, East Central, Oklahoma City and Northwestern into a tie for third honors and Phillips and Baptists scrambling to keep out of cellar position, or victory for Northwestern will clinch first honors for Southeastern and give Northwestern an undisputed claim for third berth.

In the selection of an all-star team, Johnson was the only Ada star to be mentioned for either of the teams, Johnson being placed on the second team.

TROOPS TO ASSURE OF PEACE IN HERRIN PROBE

(By the Associated Press)
HERRIN, Ill., March 3.—Troops surrounded the city hall here today where a special grand jury of the Herrin city court appointed by Judge E. M. Bowen of this city held its preliminary sessions in the investigation of the clash on the night of February 8, between the Ku Klux Klan and the anti-klan forces in which Constable Caesar Cagle, a leader of the klan, was killed and Deputy Sheriff George Layman, anti-klanman, was shot.

Capt. William J. Butler of Springfield, in charge of Company C, 130th infantry, now stationed here has issued orders to search all persons entering the building for firearms.

The grand jury will hear evidence involving 12 men, three of whom were bound over by the coroner's jury which held an inquest shortly after the killing of Cagle.

Cipher Experts at Work on Telegrams In McLean Scandal

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Cipher experts of the war department who have been translating code messages found in the McLean telegrams will be called first tomorrow when the senate oil committee resumes its public hearings.

Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, chief prosecutor in the inquiry, said today that translations of the telegrams by government experts did not differ materially from the paraphrases furnished the committee last week and that an old code of the department of justice was used.

PROPOSE VETS BE PAID BONUS WITH INSURANCE POLICY

New York Solon Adds His Views for Insurance Award to Veterans

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—Proposals to make the soldiers bonus payment in the form of paid up insurance led to several arguments today at the opening of public hearings by the house ways and means committee on adjusted compensation legislation.

Representative Andrews, Republican, Massachusetts, explained to the committee that the measure he had introduced provided for insurance with the option of cash payments for those veterans not entitled to more than $50.

"The veterans' need for cash is not the same now as at the close of the war," he said, "and a bonus now takes more the form of an obligation. The insurance provision appeals to me as better for the veterans, giving them protection against fear of the future."

Mr. Andrews estimated that the bill would cost more than the measure passed at last session.

Representative Fish, Republican, New York, presented his bonus scheme to restrict payments to a 20 year endowment policy. It would allow policies of $400 for each six months of service above 60 days with a maximum of $1,600 or allow $800 to the beneficiaries of each of the 5,000 who died during the war without insurance.

Such a measure would cost $2,000,000,000 or about $100,000 a year, Mr. Fish estimated. All veterans, including officers up to the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenant in the navy would be eligible.

Both Andrews and Representative Cole, Republican, Iowa, declared they had never heard opposition to the bonus expressed by any enlisted man.

COURT RULES ON BANK PAYMENTS

Supreme Court Holds Government Deposits Not Preferential

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 3.—The supreme court today declared that United States government deposits in a failed bank are not entitled to preferential payment.

The question was raised by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., after the failure of the Bank of Commerce of Okmulgee, Oklahoma. The supreme court affirmed the decision of the lower court.

The Fidelity-Guaranty Co. have bonds to the Federal government as well as others to secure deposits in the failed bank. After paying its obligations on these bonds the company sought to restrain the state banking board officials from paying out all of the assets of the failed bank to unsecured creditors to the exclusion of deposits of the United States and the state.

The eighth circuit court of appeal held that federal and state deposits were not entitled to preferred payment but that the surety company must share with unsecured creditors in the assets of the bank.

Favorable Weather Brings Throngs to Churches on Sunday

Favorable weather proved a valuable ally to churches of the city, reports from city pastors revealed today.

Morning and evening services brought crowds to church that taxed their capacities for the first time during the year and scores were turned away from the doors of churches after seats and standing room had been taken.

At the First Baptist church and the Nazarene church, where revival services were started, attendance was exceptionally large. Methodist, Christian and Presbyterian churches are said to have been filled to capacity.

Six in Police Raid. The city police department reported a prosperous week-end with six arrests swelling the city blotter and contributing to the running expenses of the department.

Three drunks, one pistol totter, one whiskey possessor and one man was arrested for disorderly conduct in the summary of police activities.

He Shot Wright's Dog

By EDWARD LEVINE

(© 1924, Western Newspaper Union)

"It's a lie, Sergeant. I didn't kill Wright. What would I want to kill Wright for? He was my best friend, and if I happened to be calling at his house that night he was murdered, that was on a business matter."

"What matter? Why, I owed him a thousand dollars, and he was pressing me for money, and it meant ruin. A hard man, Wright was, but I certainly didn't kill him. I'm not a murderer."

"Why did I buy that pistol? To protect myself against burglars. The bullet that was discharged? Why, I killed Wright's dog with it."

"Well, it's this way, Sergeant. I was feeling pretty murderous when I knocked at Wright's door that night, and I admit I had a gun, but I wouldn't have used it. I just wanted to frighten him into giving me time about that thousand dollars."

"Wright kept a hound, a great brute of a creature—you know that hound, Sergeant? Well, that night it came rushing at me, and my nerves were so unstrung I just fired and killed it."

"What did I do with the body? Why—that's the point, Sergeant. I'd knocked at Wright's door and rung the bell. Of course I had no means of knowing he'd been killed by a burglar, had I? And so I thought he was away. Then I looked at the body of the hound."

"It made me feel queer all over, to see the great brute lying there, and I began thinking how wild Wright would be about it, and how I'd lost all hope of his letting up on that thousand dollars. And so I carried the great creature's body away on my shoulders. The street was dark, and I didn't meet anybody."

"That's how I got those bloodstains on my coat and collar. The creature must have bled a great deal. Human blood? Oh, no, Sergeant. Well, the fact is, it wasn't quite dead when I picked it up, and in its death agony it nipped my neck. Not badly, but still it bled some. The mark? Why, I guess it's healed up by now. You see, that was three days ago, and my wounds heal quickly."

"Anything else, Sergeant? Oh, yes, what did I do with the dog? Why, I buried the body in a ditch at the bottom of one of my fields. I'd take you there, only I did it in the dark, and can't remember where it was. You'll find the animal's body there. But of course all this has nothing to do with Wright, and you can't prove anything on me. I didn't see him on the day he was murdered."

"The bullet is the same caliber as my pistol? Nothing surprising in that. Most of those pistols are the same caliber. Yes, I guess that'll be all, Sergeant. And now I may go, mayn't I? A few more questions? Certainly."

"Why was I found digging at the bottom of my field last night? Why, I was kind of worried about that dog. You see, although I'd killed it, it came to me in the night and sat yowling beside my bed. And last night, too. So I thought I'd burn the body. But I couldn't find it. I forgot where I'd buried it. I told you that."

"You've got something to show me before I go? By all means, Sergeant. I've told you a straight story, and I guess you're satisfied, aren't you? No, I repeat once more, I did shoot Wright's dog, and buried it, and it came yowling and bothering me in the night, but I didn't shoot Wright. Don't know anything about it. This way? Certainly, Sergeant. In this room? Why, there's Wright in the flesh!"

The detectives looked hard to see whether the man was shamming. But he was pointing excitedly at the big chained dog—Wright's dog—which snarled at him from its corner.

"There's Wright!" he cried triumphantly. "You needn't curse at me, old man. You're living, and that's the best proof I didn't murder you, nor anybody else. You'll let me go, Sergeant? Oh, something else to show me? Certainly. But you see now Wright isn't dead, so I couldn't have—here? Why?"

A howl broke from his lips. In the temporary morgue the murdered man was lying, just as when he had been slain. The prisoner's eyes seemed, bursting from his head. He clutched, cowering, at the sergeant.

"Don't let him loose! He'll bite me!" he shrieked in terror. "Yes, I shot him—the dog, the dog, the dog, and he won't give me any peace!"

"Mabel, I love you," he blurted out, when he got her number. "Will you marry me?"

"Of course I will, Jack," came the answer. "Why didn't you come and ask me, you silly boy?"

As soon as Tom recovered his wits he called back: "Then you'll have to break the news to himself. I'll be hanged if I will!"—Boston Transcript.

What the World Is Doing

Electric Locomotive Is Victor in Tug-o'-War

Two monsters of the rails, one operated by electricity, or "white coal," and the other by steam, staged a spectacular tug-o-war at Erie, Pa., recently before railway officials from all parts of the country. Puffing and snorting, with its huge driving wheels turning ahead, the steam locomotive was pulled backward, despite its utmost effort to hold its own. Both engines were of the same weight. The steamer is one of ten built for service in Mexico, where it will haul freight over grades twice as steep as those usually found in the United States.

Men Outnumbered by Women in Census of World

That there are more women than men in the world, is the conclusion drawn by a statistician after recent researches. Among the 475,000,000 inhabitants of the earth, there are 250,000,000 women, 25,000,000 more than the number of men, his figures show. In Germany there are 1,026 women to each 1,000 men; in Russia, 1,400 women to each 1,000 men; and in France and Belgium, respectively, 1,093 and 1,033 for each 1,000 men. The 1920 census reports for the United States show that there are 1,040 males to every 1,000 females in this country. The preponderance of women in foreign lands is believed to be partly explained by the death toll of numerous wars in the past few generations.

ODD JOBS ASSIST THRIFTY STUDENTS

Over Thousand in Oklahoma University Working to Pay for Schooling

NORMAN, March 3.—(Special)—Twelve hundred and sixty seven of the 3192 students enrolled in the University of Oklahoma are working to help pay their expenses through school and 520 of the working students are totally self-supporting, according to records compiled from a questionnaire which every student answered upon enrollment this semester.

Nine hundred and ninety-four men and 273 women are included in this working number and of the totally self-supporting students, 174 are women.

Average monthly expense of men students is $56 and for women students $60, according to the students' answers to these questions. Men bring $163 on the average to Norman when they come to school and women bring $146.

Clerical work, hashing, newspaper work, teaching, music, housework, firing furnaces, gardening, janitor work, and salesmanship are the various jobs students find to help pay their way through school.

Most of the students work during the summer months. An average of $208 is saved during the summer by men students and $146 by women students. Common labor and farming is followed by 234 men in summer, oil field work attracts 156 men and two women, salesmanship gives employment to 78 men and two women, office work attracts 81 men and 37 women, mechanical and electrical work 59 men, newspaper work 39 men and two women, carpentry and painting 21 men, theatrical and musical 17 men and two women, teaching 17 men and 13 women, geological work 11 men and construction work six men, the questionnaire disclosed.

Most of the students work during the summer months.

Detachable Bird Houses

It is becoming quite the fashion for country, suburban, and even city dwellers to provide small bird houses in yards and parks. They are usually mounted on poles or in trees, and as they are securely fastened, it is not an easy matter to remove them when it is desired to paint, repair, or clean them, which is occasionally necessary. A method of mounting a bird house so that it can readily be detached is shown in the drawing. The top of the supporting post is trimmed down to fit loosely inside a No. 2 fruit can which is cut and slotted as shown. The can is nailed to the underside of the bird house and slipped over the end of the pole. Nails are then driven into the slot, and bent downward at right angles as shown, so that the can will not slip off. When removing the bird house the nail are turned to the position shown in the lower detail, when the can may easily be released by an upward pull.

Decomposition caused by contact of the cream with metallic surfaces in the churn produces an iron lactate that causes the "fishy" taste frequently detected in butter, government experts have discovered.

"Soap Holes" of Cowboy Days Become Valuable Clay

"Soap holes," once thought by cattle ranchers of the West to be dangerous mires of worthless slime, have become mines of mineral clay of great commercial value. Bentonite, as the substance taken from the deposits is called, has been made into an ingredient to give body and weight to paper and to aid in the mixing of wall plaster and pastes. Soap makers experimenting with it are said to have found it possessed of good cleaning qualities and beneficial to the skin. Many of the clays and massage creams used by beauty parlors are mixed with it as a base. In the raw state it lies near the surface. Since it absorbs almost seven times its volume of water, it forms a soft, slippery mass where the deposits are in low ground.

Dorothy Mackaill With Paramount.

Although born in England, Dorothy Mackaill's greatest screen successes have been in typically American roles and it is such a part she has in Sheila, in "His Children's Children," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the McSwain theatre for two days, opening Monday and in which Miss Mackaill is featured with Bebe Daniels, James Rennie and George Fawcett.

As a child Miss Mackaill was an expert dancer and even then the screen held great attraction for her and developed in her a determination to become a motion picture player. It was her ability as dancer that finally brought her to London in the "Joybell Review." Arriving in New York, her record as well as beauty immediately won for her a place in the Ziegfield Follies. Then came her first featured role in pictures in "Mighty Lak a Rose." Following this she appeared opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Fighting Blade."

When Sam Wood began the production of "His Children's Children" he was given the widest range of selection for the important roles in this picture. His first choice was Miss Mackaill, who was so fascinated with the part that she gave up another engagement in order to portray Sheila. Those who see her in "His Children's Children" will agree that newspaper artists of New York chose wisely when they selected her a couple of years ago as the most beautiful girl then appearing on the New York stage. She is a decided blonde, with an expressiveness that enables her to run the gamut from the care-free hoyden to intense dramatic heights.

Miss Mackaill's success is due to hard work. She is by no means content with the success she has won, and her time when she is not working before the camera is spent in study. If she so desired, she could probably rank among the most popular dancers in the country. In the "Follies" she attracted much attention for several songs which the featured and several very important offers in vaudeville have been declined, because she means to devote herself entirely to the screen.

Pinched Peer Compelled to Sell his Life Insurance

LONDON—High taxation has caused the split up of big estates and the auctioning of works of art, but up to present it has not much affected the more personal effects of the once-wealthy.

The announcement is made, however that a British peer, whose name is not disclosed, has decided to part with insurance policies amounting to $1,600,000 and these will be sold at auction.

Weather Man Contradicts Belief that Body of Water Is Drying Up

SALT LAKE CITY, March 3.—Contrary to the belief that Great Salt Lake was drying up, the water in the lake is gradually rising and, in the opinion of J. Cecil Alter in charge of the United States weather bureau here, it will reach the level it was at when the Mormon pioneers first came in 1847.

Government statistics show that the lake, which is 100 miles long and 40 miles wide, had an average depth of 15 feet 10 inches in 1868. From that time until 1903 the water gradually lowered until it reached only a few inches. However, it has been steadily rising since reaching its low level and now the average depth is six feet four inches.

Great Salt Lake is said to be what is left of Ancient Lake Bonneville, which at one time covered most of what is now Utah and part of Nevada. The old shore lines of Lake Bonneville are still visible on the hills around Salt Lake City.

The gradual rise of the lake is causing considerable trouble to railroads and farmers. The former have been obliged to raise their tracks and farmers who settled on the shores of the lake when the water was down have had to desert some of their land which is being gradually submerged.

The water of Great Salt Lake is about 20 percent salt and it is estimated that should all the water be evaporated for the salt content 100,000,000 tons of the product would be obtainable. The lake is popular for bathing because the water is so buoyant that it is possible to stay afloat without effort. There is no marine life on the lake because of the salty condition of the water and the suggestion that fish be planted there has been discarded by experts.

Some of the life policies have been running 20 years, and the total yearly payments call for more than $40,000. It is believed the peer, who is 61 years old, will obtain only around $610,000 for the policies to be auctioned.

WOMEN SUPPORT MOVEMENT FOR NATIONAL GARDEN WEEK

(By the Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—Garden week, the second national event of its kind, has been set for April 20 to 26 by the general federation of women's clubs. Church and motion pictures will contribute to the effort of the campaign.

Mrs. John D. Sherman, chairman of the department of applied education of the federation, who has been nominated by Colorado, he home state, for the presidency of the federation at the biennial election in Los Angeles in June, has announced the endorsement of the been nominated by Colorado, the Secretary Hoover, and that the Bureau of Education has asked schools to emphasize the work in their study on Wednesday.

The program as outlined by the federation goes into every phase of gardening. Friday is tree day and the American Tree Association will send tree day programs and tree planting suggestions to schools and clubs.

Every civic organization has been asked to co-operate in the work. According to reports to the federation, school gardens in New York City last year produced food valued at $33,000 and that city is considered one in which gardening conditions are the hardest.

LOOSE GOVERNMENT ON HEELS OF WANG REGIME

(By the Associated Press)
TSINGTAO, China.—The fine administration set up by Dr. C. T. Wang, former civil governor, in Kiaochow after that territory was ceded back to China has deteriorated until now a mere shell of the former organization is left. Laxity of financial administration and non-payment of the salaries of government servants are given as the reasons for this by Chinese observers.

A few faithful minor officials remain, especially in the railway service, which so far has escaped military dominance, but the majority long since have found other positions. Wang was called to Peking months ago to serve as premier and now is in Japan on a government mission.

Hsiung Ping-chi, who has had full sway as civil governor since Wang's departure, is facing impeachment proceedings in Peking, it being held that he as governor must accept responsibility for the disappearance of public moneys from the provincial funds. It is known that since the Chinese resumed direction of affairs here more than $5,000,000 has been collected in revenues and apparently only a comparatively small amount of this has appeared in proper government channels.

The fight against Hsiung is being directed by General Kung, vice-director of the Kiaochow territory, who has been ousted from his mansion here by Hsiung and now occupies two dingy, small rooms in a side street. Several department heads have rallied around Kung and, like him, face removal should the impeachment proceedings be dismissed.

HAWAIIAN RADIO PROGRAM TUESDAY NIGHT

Radio fans of Ada and the Fourth district of Oklahoma will be interested to know that the MacDowell Sisters will broadcast from WFFA Dallas, Texas, on Tuesday night, March 4th, from 11 to 12 o'clock.

Miss Grace MacDowell was, during the war, secretary to Tom D. McKeown, and therefore will be remembered by many of his constituents. Miss Edith MacDowell was Washington correspondent for the Daily Oklahoman during the same period in Washington. Since that time these sisters have spent considerable time in Honolulu perfecting themselves in the art of playing the Hawaiian guitar and ukulele, and learning the language so that they might sing the songs in the charming and fascinating tongue. Upon their return to the United States they established an Hawaiian Music Studio in Washington, which they conducted successfully for two years.

Since coming to Dallas a year ago, they have broadcasted more than a dozen times over WFFA and have become so popular that they have received several thousand letters of applause from all over the United States, as well as Cuba, Havana, Mexico, Canada and Hawaii.

The MacDowell Sisters wish to greet every one in the Fourth district, thru the courtesy of Mrs. Orville Snead, secretary of the Pontotoc county chapter of the American Red Cross, Mrs. Snead is a radio fan, and knows Miss Grace MacDowell thru correspondence carried on while Miss MacDowell was Mr. McKeown's secretary.

FEDERATED MUSIC CLUB MEET

The Junior and Juvenile federated music club met at the college Saturday, March the second.

A study of the life of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and a resume of the classic composers previously studied was made.

Mozart as a boy prodigy composed many pieces of merit several of these were played as well as some of his larger compositions. The Victrola record added to the list in music memory work was the "Minuet" from "Don Juan" one of Mozart's best known operas.

Those appearing on the program were Sarah Hale, Branch Louise Smith, Mary Elise Green, Lady Percy Shaw, Nell Chapman, Neva Mitchell.

The study of the next two meetings will be devoted to the orchestra in preparation for the concert Mar. 21st given by the Kansas City Little Symphony.

GARRETT MAY BE OFFICE SEEKER

Picturesque Figure in State History Asked to Make Sheriff Race Again

ARDMORE, March 3.—Buck Garrett, picturesque figure of Carter county, and one of the few remaining "two-gun men" is again hearing the "call to office."

Petitions have been circulated throughout the county asking Garrett to make the race for sheriff, the office from which he was ousted two years ago after serving six terms.

The petitions, mysteriously circulated, were left under the front door of hundreds of homes in Carter county. There were no names signed and no organization identified with the movement. The notation said that within a month a collector would call and gather up the petitions. Garrett has declared that he will never again seek public office. He is now president of the Anti-Automobile Theft association and devotes his time to the direction of operations against auto thieves.

Should Garrett return to the stage of politics a lively race for sheriff will follow, political observers believe, as the former sheriff has a strong following, especially in the rural districts of the county.

In January, 1922, Garrett was ousted from office for failure to enforce the laws in the oil field districts near here. Ewing C. London was appointed to succeed him. London still is sheriff having been elected at the following election.

Garrett has figured in Oklahoma life since territorial days. Fearless, quick on the trigger and a dominating figure in almost any situation, he has flashed across the bright pages of Oklahoma's colorful history. Before becoming sheriff of Carter county he was police chief at Ardmore and a deputy United States marshal.

When J. C. Walton became the democratic nominee for governor Garrett joined his camp and later headed Walton's corps of "special police" which Walton's opponents called his "gunmen."

Following the downfall of the Walton administration, Garrett organized the Anti-Automobile Theft association.

UNIVERSITY SHOWS ENROLMENT BOOST

Second Semester Figures on Increase Over First Student List

(By the Associated Press)

NORMAN, March 3.—(Special)—Second semester enrollment of the University of Oklahoma is 3,192 students according to official announcement of George Wadsack, assistant registrar, Wednesday. This figure is an increase over the corresponding semester of last year 188 students.

Approximately one-fifth, or 636 students, are candidates for bachelor and graduate degrees this spring, records show. There are 55 seniors candidates for bachelor degrees and 81 graduate students candidates for graduate degrees.

Of the total enrollment, 1950 are men and 1243 are women. Freshmen lead in enrollment with 1,001 students. There are 713 sophomores, 622 juniors and 166 students unclassified.

The college of arts and sciences with its many departments and schools, leads the university in enrollment with 1978 students, 1110 of them men. The college of engineering is second with 269 students; school of fine arts third with 340 students, all but 26 women; school of law third with 166, school of medicine 137, school of pharmacy 110; school of business 90; graduate school 81; school of education 66; school of nurses 54.

Many students of the college of arts and sciences are also doing work in the other colleges and schools, such as engineering, education, business, fine arts, medicine, pharmacy and law. The figures given are for only those students who will receive degrees in these schools and do not give an accurate account of the total enrollment in all courses, Wadsack pointed out.

SWEDISH CHURCH CHAPTERS AGAINST WOMEN MINISTERS

(By the Associated Press)

STOCKHOLM.—The government committee appointed to investigate the demand of Swedish feminists that women be allowed in the Swedish State Church on an equal footing with men has reported in favor of the women. The committee, however, recommended a careful selection and gradual admission and, at first, to those clerical posts which would benefit most from the kind of service for which women are peculiarly fitted.

Opinions of chapters all over Sweden have been requested by the government. While all the chapters emphasize the great value of women in Christian and parochial work in general and urge further utilization of their services, virtually all voiced strong objection to the admission of women to the pulpit.

HERE'S WHAT PEOPLE SAY ABOUT TANLAC

"If it had not been for Tanlac I would still be a sick, discouraged woman, for nothing else seemed to do me any good," says Mrs. Edward Gibbs.

All the advertising in the world and all the sales efforts combined could not have made the great success for TANLAC that has been attained, unless this reconstructive tonic possessed merit of the greatest degree. Over 40 Million Bottles of Tanlac have been sold and the demand today is greater than ever before.

That TANLAC possesses merit and has brought relief to hundreds of thousands of persons is attested by the great number of testimonials that have been received by the company from people in every state of the Union and every province of Canada. There are over 100,000 such statements on file with the company all ringing with sincere praise for TANLAC and what it has accomplished.

Here are excerpts from a few of the 100,000 statements on file:

Mrs. Edward Gibbs, Lancaster, Pa.—"For 2 years indigestion deprived me of nearly all the pleasure of living. If it had not been for TANLAC I would still be a sick and discouraged woman, for nothing else seemed to do me any good."

Mrs. Mary A. Benson, Seattle, Wash.: "Following an operation my stomach and nerves seemed to give way and I became almost helpless. As a last resort I tried TANLAC. I began to improve from the very first, gained 29 lbs., and today am feeling fine."

O. E. Moore, Kansas City, Mo.: "My stomach seemed to pain me constantly, food seemed to do me no good, I would bloat up with gas, lost my strength, and could not sleep or rest. I was on the down-grade all the time. Tanlac corrected my troubles and put me in excellent shape."

Thomas Lucas, Petersburg, Ontario: "Well, sir, buying TANLAC was the best investment I ever made for it built up my health and strength to where I haven't a complaint in the world."

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Kaake, Detroit, Mich.: "For more than a year our three children, age 2, 4, and 6, had been so peaked and lifeless that we were worried about them. Their stomachs were upset, appetites poor, the color had left their cheeks, their nights were restless and during the day they would just mope around, taking no interest in play or anything else. They began to improve with the first dose of TANLAC, and today there are no more healthy children in Detroit."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 40 million bottles sold. Accept no substitute.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

BE KINDLY AFFECTIONED one to another with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another; recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men. Be not overcome of evil, but evil with good.—Romans 12:10, 17, 21.

And now it is said that the French are again turning their thoughts to Clemenceau, the "Tiger of France," who piloted the nation's destiny during the darkest days of the war. Clemenceau desired to round out his career as president of France but with the war won and his services no longer imperatively needed, his enemies became active and gave the prize to another. Since then he has been in retirement. He is well past the four score mark in age and to again assume the premiership with all of the heavy burdens and responsibilities would be a tremendous task for the old fighter. Clemenceau's career has been a stormy one and he attained his position by the hardest kind of fighting but at his age he has probably lost much of his love of battle. If he again takes the helm it will be in the hope of saving his country from the calamities that threaten her and not because of political ambition. The French are proverbially changeable, quick to elevate to power a man who happens to catch the popular fancy and just as quick to hurl him from his pedestal when he offends the volatile public sentiment. It was Gambetta who did more than any other man to save the nation from the wreckage of the war of 1870 but in the critical days that followed even Gambetta was overthrown without thought of the service he had rendered the nation in its hour of need. Probably he would have regained his commanding position, however, had not death laid an untimely hand on him.

Press reports indicate that considerable progress is being made in colonizing Palestine with Jewish immigrants from all parts of the world, more particularly from Russia, Poland and other countries of Europe where the race has been the object of persecution. A large number of agricultural colonies have already been established and in some places industries are springing up. On the shores of the Mediterranean sea a city of 15,000 has sprung up on a spot that a few years ago was a barren waste of sand dunes. As most of the new comers are poor funds are being raised among the more prosperous members of the race in other countries to give them a chance to make a new start in life. Palestine is a small country and only a fraction of the Jews of the world could find room there, but with good management the little country may within a few years be restored to a degree of prosperity unknown under Turkish rule. From all accounts Palestine is no longer a land of milk and honey but within the next quarter of a century it may be well along the path to at least a partial restoration to the prosperity of 2,000 years ago and the home of thousands of Jews who never knew what peace was until established in the land of their fathers. Palestine has been the battle grounds for the empires of all ages but perhaps under British rule it is at last to realize the dream of the pious Jews of every land.

Among several men it considers good senatorial timber the Okmulgee Democrat names J. C. Stone of Muskogee. Not a bad choice at all, as we see it. We have known Joe Stone nearly 30 years, first as a fellow student in a Texas college and later as an instructor. For a year we wrestled with the complexities of Caesar and Cicero under his direction and we have watched his gradual development into one of the leading lawyers of Oklahoma with keen interest. In ability he certainly compares favorably with any other man thus far spoken of as a successor to Robert L. Owen.

Attorney General Daugherty threatens to come back at some of his accusers in the senate by telling a few things he knows about their records. Since Daugherty is an old hand in the game of politics and has long been in a position to get first hand information concerning men in public life, it is a safe bet that if he makes his threat good the public will be treated to some rare morsels of sensation. The row may not end with the oil scandal.

If the Democrats want to nominate a man with a clean record what is the matter with Col. E. M. House? Few men know of the inside workings of the government as he does and none ever had better control of his tongue. The party might go farther and fare worse.

The Muskogee Phoenix observes that nothing in this world is certain, except the intentions of a widower who goes courting.

Although people are tax weary, we believe that the great majority will approve the action of the legislature in appropriating $650,000 for the aid of the weak schools of the state. Some of these had probably already closed and still others would have done so had not this timely aid not been forthcoming. Now if the school land department will press collections on land sales, rentals, and loans, another year should find the schools in much better shape.

BIG PRODUCTION OF CROPS VIEWED

Excellent Soils and Improvement of Leading Crops Given as Cause

(By the Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, Mar. 3.—Agriculture is preparing for a big production this year, influenced by excellent soil and moisture conditions and by the improvement in position of leading crops, notably corn, cotton, sugar beets, potatoes, truck and dairy products, says the monthly report of the Tenth Federal Reserve district made public here tonight.

Unsatisfactory returns of the last two crops of winter wheat and the effects of dry weather last year have resulted in wheat acreage being reduced nearly 12 per cent in the district, according to the report. However, it is added, the growing condition at this time would, if maintained, forecast a large yield, a portion of which has been signed up for marketing through cooperative associations.

"The situation with reference to livestock is one of encouragement," the report said. "While cattlemen still regard prices of their stock as unsatisfactorily low, the reduced number of head on farms and ranges in the district on the first of January is regarded as pointing to firmer cattle values. Most of the troubles of the cattlemen in the last three years have been overcome, and although there is some difficulty in financing breeding stock, the industry as a whole is in a better position than at any time since the period of readjustment began."

"The sheep industry has shown a remarkable recovery and may now be said to be on a fairly prosperous basis. Heavy marketing of hogs, which has featured the winter reports, has resulted in a slight reduction of hogs on farms, and with a broader demand for pork both at home and abroad, there is a feeling among producers that, notwithstanding low prices prevailing in recent months, the condition of the industry is promising."

The petroleum industry, which was somewhat depressed by over production a few months ago, shows good signs of recovery, the review said. Coal production for January showed a high rate of activity. Lead and zinc production reached new high levels, influenced by substantially increased prices of ores. Shipments of ores from the Colorado precious metal mining districts for the winter were heavy and operations proceeded rapidly according to the summary.

"The reports show more than normal winter activity in manufacturing in various lines," it continued. "With arrivals of wheat at the markets of the district less than half the volume of a year ago, flour production reported by the southwestern mills was nearly 10 per cent greater than a year ago. Meat packing reports indicated an enormous output, although slightly below that of a year ago."

Severe cold weather during the last month has caused a slowing down in mid-winter building and construction work. However, plans for large building programs and extensive public improvements for the current year have been announced and some activity is noted with the approach of spring, the summary said.

Trade in all lines of wholesale business during January except groceries, fell short of the total of a year ago, the summary said. This decrease was attributed to the price uncertainties, cold weather and bad roads.

Ireland's Banks Prosperous
DUBLIN—Statistics recently published show Ireland's banks to be prosperous, some of them paying as high as 20 percent dividends. The Bank of Ireland with which the government deals, declared a dividend of 16 per cent and added $1,000,000 to its reserve. Deposits generally show a decrease due to the transfer of funds to the Free State national loan.

Haskell Not Cornered.
(Okmulgee Democrat)

There has been much speculation over the stories that ex-Governor C. N. Haskell has been trimmed by a bunch of Wall Street brokers. We are in receipt of a letter in which Mr. Haskell discusses at some length the recent fluctuation of Southern States Oil Corporation stock. While being careful to say that most of the brokers handling this stock conducted their business in such a way to escape criticism, he refers to a few of them who did not and says that "if they are satisfied I am."

We would understand from this that the so-called Wall Street crowd were not able to get Mr. Haskell in a hole from which he could not extricate himself. Mr. Haskell has had much experience with Wall Street and we would indeed be surprised to learn that they had been able to trim him. It is understood that the Southern States Oil Corporation properties have been taken over by the Middle States corporation, of which Mr. Haskell recently resigned as chairman of the board.

JAPANESE EAT AMERICAN RICE

SAN FRANCISCO —Rice holds first place in the world's production of cereals, surpassing the growth of wheat, according to the California Rice Growers Association.

The rice production in the central part of California during 1923 totaled 5,470,000 bushels, valued on the farms at $6,126,000, the association stated. The crop was produced from 106,000 acres an average of 51.6 bushels an acre.

Most of the California rice crop is sold in Japan.

STRASSBURG FEARS FINANCIAL RUIN

Thrifty Citizens Fearful of Collapse of Franc In Exchange

STRASSBURG, France, Feb. 12.—Strassburg today is going through the same orgy of buying which Germany experienced when the mark was falling. The decline of the franc and the fear of the French population near the German boundary that the French money will continue to drop, has inspired the wholesale buying of articles of fixed value.

Prices in Strassburg are less than half the prices of similar articles across the Rhine in German territory. There was a great rush of Germans into France during the holiday season, and shoppers were not hindered by the French authorities. German officials also paid little attention to wares carried across the line if they were clearly for the use of the purchasers and their families.

Since Christmas time the control has been intensified and there is less trafficking across the river. French merchants are in something of a quandary. They are perfectly willing to sell seasonable articles and wares of such character that they may be worthless as fashions change but there is a growing disposition to hold staple goods, as prices in francs are beginning to advance with the decline in French exchange.

There is everywhere a desire on the part of the people of Strassburg to get hold of dollars, and their faith in American currency seems unlimited. The weakening of the pound sterling has made the population less keen for English money.

The people of Alsace and Lorraine know so much about the currency disaster in Germany that they are much alarmed over the possibility of French currency undergoing a similar collapse. Even servants and workmen are seeking some secure investment for their money. French officials control the frontiers very carefully to keep travelers from carrying francs out of the country in large quantities, as they want to prevent the dumping of francs abroad at rates which will make it more difficult to keep the franc from further decline.

Only a few species of bears are able to climb trees.

SHAVING IN AIRPLANE BESET WITH MANY DIFFICULTIES

MANILA.—The difficulties of shaving in an airplane while flying more than 9,000 feet above the earth were experienced recently by Major A. S. Fletcher of the Philippine Scouts. Three United States army airplanes which had been sent to Zamboanga to take part in the annual carnival were about to take off for Manila when Major Fletcher decided to make the trip. He needed a shave badly. There was no time for it in his quarters so he took his shaving outfit with him.

Using water from his canteen, he made his lather and when he was ready to apply it the airplane had ascended so high that the lather faded from his face in the gale as fast as it was put on. However, Major Fletcher persevered and when he arrived at Manila showed evidence of having had a fairly good shave.

POLITICAL FIRES IGNITE IN COUNTY

Rumblings of Office Appeals Reach Ears of Voters Over County

Making his busy hum sweet music to the plum agents, the infant political bee is starting his ramblings over Ada and Pontotoc county, stinging his victims in the corridors of the county court building, city hall, on street corners and in grass root districts of Pontotoc county.

Feasting on the honey of favorable public opinions, candidates for various offices give evidence of swelling the race track to the extent of the senatorial handicap now looming in the near distance in the state.

While the little bee is making things lively, political candidates are piling high the coals under the political pot and the jumbled contents is simmering to an uncomfortable heat.

Resting from the turmoil of recent general elections, Pontotoc county is preparing for another siege of political candidates seeking favoritism at the hands of the voters.

Few of the offices open for candidates for the primary runoff are without announced or prospective candidates and political rumblings from various camps have indicated that the lists will be swelled long before the race heads down the ballot lane on the home stretch.

While factional antagonism has not entered to any great extent into the political prognostications suffered to the ears of those inclined in a political way, candidates for offices have avowed their intentions of making races a lively affair in Pontotoc county with as little degree of riotous mud slinging as possible.

While stump speaking in interest of claimants for county and city offices has not become the vogue for Pontotoc county, the fervor of candidates is increasing daily and the rise to oratory is considered by political followers in the county to require only a short time for the final urge.

City Fight of Interest

Present political rumblings center the contention at the present time about the city office of commissioner of public works and property, for which six candidates are scrambling for officialdom. The list of candidates include Walter Smith, the present incumbent, J. D. Bennett, George W. Young, Henry Krohn, G. E. Branscome, O. F. Davidson.

In other city offices, present officials are again seeking the good will of the people to again place them in the saddle of city affairs.

Mayor W. H. Fisher has announced his candidacy for election with Sommer Jones and D. W. Swaffar as his opponents. Charlie Devers is again in the race for Commissioner of Accounting and Finance with Clint Myers as his only opponent at the present time.

County offices have attracted few to the glittered goal of officialdom. Two candidates have filed to wear the badge of authority in the race for Sheriff, W. B. Walker, present deputy, and A. C. Nabors. W. H. Brumley has announced his candidacy for commissioner from District No. 1.

All preliminary details have been removed from the path of officials and voters through the proclamations of those concerned with the destinies of public officials. Mayor W. H. Fisher has officially announced and set the date for the city primary. Dr. Sam A. McKeel, secretary of the county election board, has posted official instructions to the voters and candidates of Pontotoc county; W. M. Peggs, county registrar has opened the books of his office to voters of the county who have not officially acquired the rights of suffrage.

ST. LOUIS, March 3.—The 25 year sentences imposed on Jess and Dan O'Duere, E. E. Dodge and G. E. Downer in connection with the holdup by bandits of a mail train at Edmond, Oklahoma, September 28, 1921, were affirmed by the United States circuit court of appeals here today.

OLDEST LANDMARK AT McALESTER TORN DOWN

(By the Associated Press) McALESTER, March 3.—The oldest land mark in the business section of this city is being demolished today. It was a three-story building erected in the Main street section in 1895 and is making way for a business building with eight store rooms.

J. B. Campbell, original owner, still holds the property, once a blacksmith shop on the Kansas-Texas trail.

LONDON, March 3.—King George was confined to Buckingham palace suffering from a cold today. On the advice of his physicians he has cancelled a number of important engagements he had made for the current week.

WHAT THEY SAY

"The Oklahoma Farmers' Union is making a steady growth. Our members are more enthusiastic than ever before. We closed 1924 with over 12,000 members in 754 locals, scattered over 60 counties of the state. In fact we have organized in all counties of the state, except in the Northwestern section in the oil territory."

We have our Farmers Union Mutual Insurance Company and write insurance for Farmers' Union members only. We now have approximately 2,000 policy holders who are carrying more than $2,500,000 of insurance. This insurance is only costing our members $4.00 per thousand and per year, which is less than 1-3 of the Old Line rate. More than 6-7 of all premiums collected by our Insurance Company has been paid out to our unfortunate policy holders who have suffered loss, and less than 1-7 has been applied on overhead expense—a record, according to Government statistics, no other Insurance Company in the United States, either Old Line or Mutual, has been able to make.

We have our Farmers State Exchange, which is a State Buying Agency, for our members in Oklahoma. The State Exchange is a Co-operative institution, and we have rebated almost $4,000 in patronage dividends to our customers for the year 1923. We have sold between 300 and 400 cars of car lot commodities and saved our members approximately $40,000, so co-operation really pays, if the farmers will practice it. See your Local or County Secretary for Insurance. T. F. Beller, Co. Sec-Treas.

Any tourist or camper, whether from Wisconsin or outside, will be permitted to use a plot of ground in the state land territory, most of which is in the northern part of the state. The plots generally will be 60 by 120 feet. No permanent building can be erected on the land, campers being permitted to use only tents or portable structures. Permits for camp sites are to be obtained through the land office. The permit plan, according to officials, will result in a small loss in fees to the state.

They drew up outside the house in Grosvenor square. Lady Cynthia held out her hand.

"Come and see me one afternoon, will you?" she invited.

"I'd like to very much," he replied. She lingered on the steps and waved her hand to him—a graceful, somewhat insolent gesture.

"All the same, I think I shall do my best to make you forget Margaret," she called out. "Thanks for the lift up. A bientot!"

CHAPTER XII

Francis drove direct from Grosvenor square to his chambers in the Temple, and found Shopland, his friend from Scotland Yard, awaiting his arrival.

"Any news?" Francis inquired. "Nothing definite, I am sorry to say," was the other's reluctant admission.

Francis hung up his hat, threw himself into his easy-chair and lit a cigarette.

"The lad's brother is one of my oldest friends, Shopland," he said. "He is naturally in a state of great distress."

The detective scratched his chin thoughtfully.

"I said 'nothing definite' just now, sir," he observed. "As a rule, I never mention suspicions, but with you it is a different matter. I haven't discovered the slightest trace of Mr. Reginald Wilmore, or the slightest reason for his disappearance. He seems to have been a well-conducted young gentleman, a little extravagant, perhaps, but able to pay his way and with nothing whatever, that is to say, except one almost insignificant thing."

"And that?"

"A slight tendency towards bad company, sir. I have heard of his being about with one or two whom we are keeping our eye upon."

"Bobby Fairfax's lot, by any chance?"

Shopland nodded.

"He was with Jacks and Miss Daisy Hyslop, a night or two before he disappeared. I am not sure that a young man named Morse wasn't of the party, too."

Attractive Awards To be Presented in Southwest Stock Show

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., March 1.—Thousands of dollars in prizes and scores of medals and cups will be given to the winners in the various classes of livestock exhibits and horse ring at the ninth annual Southwestern American Livestock show which opens here today. It will continue until March 8.

Exhibitors from eight states will have animals entered. More entries from breeders outside Oklahoma have been made this year than ever before, officials of the show declared.

An indoor polo match between teams of the regular army, will be a feature of the horse show which will be held each night. The polo teams will be from Fort Sam Houston, Fort Riley and Fort Reno. The horse show is attracting scores of horsemen and the entry list is large according to Lieut.-Col. Reginald McNally, U. S. A., Oklahoma City, who is in charge of the horse show.

The junior club contests, open to boys and girls, who are members of stock clubs, will form an interesting section of the show. The dairying exhibit will be extensive and unique, show directors declared. It will include a demonstration of cattle inoculation and milk grading.

INTERBURG, Eastern Prussia.—Russian wolves have been driven into Eastern Prussia by the long hard winter and deep snows, and

"What do you make of that lot?" Francis asked, curiously. "Are they gamblers, dope fiends, or simply vicious?"

The detective was silent. He was gazing intently at his rather square-toed shoes.

"There are rumors, sir," he said, presently, "of things going on in the West End which want looking into very badly—very badly, indeed. You will remember speaking to me of Sir Timothy Brast?"

"I remember quite well," Francis acknowledged.

"I've nothing to go on," the other continued. "I am working almost in the dark to find a clue, as it were, but I'm beginning to have ideas about Sir Timothy Brast; just ideas."

"As for instance?"

"Well, he stands on rather queer terms with some of his acquaintances, sir. Now you saw, down at Soto's bar, the night we arrested Mr. Fairfax, that not one of those young men there spoke to Sir Timothy as though they were acquainted, nor he to them. Yet I happened to find out that every one of them, including Fairfax himself, was present at a party Sir Timothy Brast gave at his house down the river a week or two before."

"I'm afraid there isn't much in that," Francis declared. "Sir Timothy has the name of being an eccentric person everywhere, especially in this respect—he never notices acquaintances. I heard, only the other day, that while he was wonderfully hospitable and charming to all his guests, he never remembered them outside his house."

Shopland nodded.

"A convenient eccentricity," he remarked, a little dryly. "I have heard the same thing myself. You spent the night at his country cottage, did you not, Mr. Ledsam? Did he offer to show you over the Walled House?"

"How the dickens did you know I was down there?" Francis demanded, with some surprise. "I was just thinking as I drove up that I hadn't left my address either here or at Clarges street."

"Next time you visit Sir Timothy," the detective observed, "I should advise you to do so. I knew you were there, Mr. Ledsam, because I was in the neighborhood myself. I have been doing a little fishing, and keeping my eye on that wonderful estate of Sir Timothy's."

Francis was interested.

"Shopland," he said, "I believe that our intelligences, such as they are, are akin."

"What do you suspect Sir Timothy of?" the detective asked bluntly.

"I suspect him of nothing," Francis replied. "He is simply, to my mind, an incomprehensible, somewhat sinister figure, who might be capable of anything. He may have very excellent qualities which he contrives to conceal, or he may be an archcriminal. His personality absolutely puzzles me."

There was a knock at the door and Angrave appeared. Apparently he had forgotten Shopland's presence, for he ushered in another visitor.

"Sir Timothy Brast to see you, sir," he announced.

The moment was one of trial to every one, admirably borne. Shopland remained in his chair, with only a casual glance at the newcomer. Francis rose to his feet with a half-stiffed expression of anger at the clumsiness of his clerk. Sir Timothy, well-shaven and groomed, attired in a perfectly fitting suit of gray flannel, nodded to Francis in friendly fashion and laid his hand on the shoulder of the newcomer.

"My dear Ledsam," he said, "I do hope that you will excuse this early call. I could only have been an hour behind you on the road. I dare say you can guess what I have come to see you about. Can we have a word together?"

"Certainly," was the ready reply.

"You remember my friend Shopland, Sir Timothy? It was Mr. Shopland who arrested young Fairfax that night at Soto's."

"I remember him perfectly," Sir Timothy declared. "I fancied, directly I entered, that your face was familiar," he added, turning to Shopland. "I am rather ashamed of myself about that night. My little outburst must have sounded almost ridiculous to you two. To tell you the truth, I quite failed at that time to give Mr. Ledsam credit for gifts which I have since discovered him to possess."

"Mr. Shopland and I are now discussing another matter," Francis went on, pushing a box of cigarettes toward Sir Timothy, who was leaning against the table in an easy attitude. "Don't go, Shopland, for a minute. We were consulting together about the disappearance of a young man, Reggie Wilmore, the brother of a friend of mine—Andrew Wilmore, the novelist."

"Disappearance?" Sir Timothy repeated, as he lit a cigarette. "That is rather a vague term."

"The young man has been missing from home for over a week," Francis said, "and left no trace whatever of his whereabouts. He was not in financial trouble, he does not seem to have been entangled with any young woman, he had not quarreled with his people, and he seems to have been on the best of terms with the principal at the house of business where he was employed. His disappearance, therefore, is, to say the least of it, mysterious."

Sir Timothy assented gravely.

"The lack of motive to which you allude," he pointed out, "makes the case interesting. Still, one must remember that London is certainly the city of modern mysteries. If a new 'Arabian Nights' were written, it might well be about London. I dare say Mr. Shopland will agree with me," he continued, turning courteously to

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

George Jean Nathan, author and critic, has always been most severe on motion pictures, designating them as fit only to serve as "chairs" on poor vaudeville bills (as they were used in the early days). Lately, however, he has been converted to the extent, at least, of deigning to approve of the work of one artist of the screen. He says: "I am very much interested in the work of Sydney Chaplin. I consider him the foremost comedian on the screen today."

There are many movie fans who will heartily agree with Mr. Nathan. I am one of them. In the three years of directing his brother, Charlie, he has proved himself the master not only of comedy of the slapstick variety but of that subtler humor that reaches the so-called "intelligencia."

These three pictures are "The Rendezvous," Neilan's tragic Russian film, "Her Temporary Husband," an out-and-out farce; and "Galloping Fish," an Ince production.

As sergeant Winkle of the British army in "The Rendezvous" he indulges in a little of the broader type of humor, but the touch of pathos which he manages to insinuate into the last scene when "Vera" the girl he has protected sails away with her lover—the quiver of his lips under the grotesque mustache, reveals the artist.

Hazel Dawn, screen star with Famous Players-Lasky at one time, musical comedy star and vaudeville artist, is to be added to the charmed circle of David Belasco's proteges. I am told that she will make her appearance under Belasco's management early next season in a play yet to be announced. When I talked with Hazel several months ago when she was appearing in the "Nineties," she said that she had always rather regretted giving up her work in pictures. I mourn a little too as the screen needs thoroughly trained actresses to take leads—actresses that not only have beauty but personality and stage training. With these attributes, which Miss Dawn possesses, and under the magic banner of Belasco, she may make a greater triumph than would have been possible even on the silver screen.

There is a movement on foot to procure a building in Washington D. C., in which to preserve historical films. Scientific care is needed to keep the films from fading and unless something is done animated pictures showing McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge, the first airplane flight and its inventors, and many others of people, and events of great interest, will be lost to future generations.

START INSPECTION FOR GUARD UNIT

179th Infantry Regiment is Rated as Second in National Guards

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 29.—Federal inspection of the 179th infantry regiment of the Oklahoma national guard will begin March 1 with the inspection of officers of the staff and units in Oklahoma City, according to an announcement by the adjutant general.

The 179th was ranked as the second best national guard infantry regiment in the United States after last year's inspection, the adjutant general was informed. The historic 68th New York, which was known as the 165th and 42nd divisions during the world war was first. The New York regiment dates back to the Civil war and has seen service in every war since then. Officers and men of the Oklahoma regiment are working to outrank the New Yorkers this year.

Following the itinerary of the inspection officer, Captain Fay Ross, Muskogee, instructor for the Oklahoma national guard:

March 3—Okmulgee, Hdqs. and Hqs. Co., 3rd Bn.

March 4—Okmulgee, Company E.

March 5—Wetumka, Company I.

March 6—Wetumka, Co. E, 120th Engrs.

March 7—Seminole, Company L.

March 8—Shawnee, Howitzer Co.

March 10—Maud, Company G.

March 11—Konawa, Company F.

March 12—Sulphur, Company K.

March 13—Ardmore, Company M.

March 14—Norman, Hqs. and Hqs. Co., 1st Bn.

March 17—Clinton, Hqs. and Hqs. Co., 2nd Bn.

March 18—Elk City, Medical Detachment.

March 19—Elk City, Company C.

March 21—Frederick, Company H.

March 24—Edmond, Hqs. Co.

March 25—Pawnee, Company B.

Lieut.-Col. W. P. Coleman, San Antonio, infantry instructor to the Texas national guard, will inspect the officers and men of the staff, headquarters and adjutant general's office here.

All officers of the state administration staff, regimental and field officers of the 179th and Oklahoma City will be inspected March 1. On March 3 the units will be inspected and inspections of the warehouses and arsenals will be made in the interim.

There are 63 officers and 1,139 enlisted men in the 179th at the present time, administrative officers said. This is more than 300 above the maintenance strength of the regiment and within 100 of full strength.

Regimental officers are especially desirous of having full strength by the time the inspection is begun, pointing out that federal appropriations are based on the number of men who answer roll call when inspections are made.

DUBLIN.—F. Leroy Granville, an American producer, was in Dublin recently making a preliminary investigation with a view to producing a motion picture depicting Irish life. He declared he would return here next summer for that purpose and invited Irish authors to submit stories. He said Americans were anxious to see a modern and faithful presentation of Irish national life, eliminating the stage Irishman.

"The atmosphere in Ireland," said Mr. Granville, "is as good as it is in California, and there is some of the finest scenery in the world in Ireland."

MACDONALD OPEN IN WAR OPPOSITION

New Premier of Britain is Consistent in Fight Against Wars

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON.—Ramsay MacDonald as prime minister is a striking testimonial to the public's infinite capacity for changing its mind. No man in Britain was more disliked by his countrymen than was Mr. MacDonald in the heated, emotional years of the war. From start to finish he was against the conflict, and he never compromised with his principles.

Nor was Mr. MacDonald satisfied with passive resistance. With all the fire that is in him he violently and actively opposed the war. In consequence he lost his political position and was even expelled from his golf club.

The larger the war went on the more bitter and active was Mr. MacDonald's opposition to it. At the beginning he found the majority of labor members against him, so he resigned the chairmanship of the party. When Labor later joined the Lloyd George coalition, he held aloof. In 1917 he tried to go to Russia, but members of the National Seaman's and Firemen's Union refused to man the ship should he come abroad. A few months later he planned to attend a conference at Stockholm which the Bolsheviks proposed as a step towards peace parleys with the working classes of the central powers. The government refused to give him a passport. The same year he was one of the moving forces in a conference at Leeds which resolved to seek establishment of workers' and soldiers' councils in the manner of the revolting Russians.

The "khabli election" just after the war—that wild, flag-waving, parliamentary campaign with its hot and ardent cries of "Hang the Kaiser,"—was disastrous to Mr. MacDonald. He was badly beaten at the polls, and lost his seat in the Commons. The Labor stronghold of Woolwich turned him down. For four years he remained on the outside, looking in, until the voters of Aberavon sent him back to Westminster in 1922.

Helped by the "wild men from the Clyde," as the more extreme elements of the Scottish labor delegation are called, Mr. MacDonald regained the leadership of his party, but only by a narrow majority. From the opposition benches this man, who had attracted little attention in his former parliamentary speeches, revealed as the days went on the gifts for debate that are looked for in leaders. More and more it became certain that if Labor came to power Mr. MacDonald would be prime minister.

So it is. Politically he has come back. But he is still out of the modest golf club at his native village of Lossiemouth. One heard interesting stories on that subject as soon as it became certain the Conservative regime would fall and Labor would take charge of the government. It was said the canny ex-laborer would not before Christmas week reworking the order that had expelled him from the fairways of Lossiemouth during the war. Then, the story went, a delegation of club members came down to London to ask their "old friend" to rejoin the club and let the home folks see him swinging woods and irons during his Christmas holidays. The substance of the reply Mr. MacDonald is said to have made to this invitation might be summed up as "nothing doing."

At any rate, Mr. MacDonald didn't play any golf while he was at Lossiemouth last month. And though he wore "plus fours" around the house and on his walks in the country, he never entered the club house or even went so far as to practice putting.

Irish Banks Increase Dividends.

(By the Associated Press)

DUBLIN.—The Irish Banks continue to show very satisfactory returns on the year's trading. Following the 16 percent dividend of the Bank of Ireland, the Munster and Leinster Bank has paid a 20 percent dividend, and the National Bank has increased its dividend from 12 percent to 13. The net profits of all the banks for the year were £1,340,287, or nearly nine percent in excess of those for 1922.
